

Some Things Fishy brings you the highest quality pet therapy products
Designed specifically for the healthcare and long term care environments

Who can resist the tranquil beauty of an aquarium – it brings calm to residents, visitors and staff alike. An aquarium can enhance the ambience of your facility and help you meet your marketing goals. But nobody really wants to take care of an aquarium. So, Some Things Fishy invented the only aquariums that require no daily work. All of our aquariums are completely automated.

We offer the best customer service, highest quality, and lowest prices, guaranteed!

No extra work for your staff!

They don't even need to feed the fish. A machine feeds them automatically. The lights go on and off on a timer. The special filter system keeps the aquarium sparkling clean. Our aquariums are ideal for people who know nothing about aquariums and don't want to. Maintenance is simple and no special training is necessary; anyone can do it.

Quality construction

Elegant appearance. Furniture quality. Made of fine hardwoods with custom finishes to match the decor of your facility at no extra charge. Safe. Unbreakable acrylic construction, secured with a key lock.

Lighted background

Even people with cataracts and other with vision impairments can easily see the fish. A light shining through the photographic background gives contrast to the fish so they can be seen. Better than tanks that are clear on all four sides, where the fish are easily confused with objects behind the aquarium.

The Rolling Sea™

L30" x W20" x H54"

Some Things Fishy invented the rolling aquarium.

The Rolling Sea can easily be rolled anywhere in your facility. It's as easy to move as a resident or patient in a wheelchair.

Fully automated. No daily work for your staff.

Spill-proof design. Not just a fish tank on wheels. It's the only aquarium that won't spill when moved. The water level automatically lowers when the fish tank is ready to be rolled to a new location. This lowers the center of gravity so the aquarium can't tip over and water will never spill out, even when going up a ramp or over bumps. No other aquarium has this patented advantage.

Large 30" x 20" viewing area with our patented lighted background.

Benefits proven by research

In research done at Purdue University, Alzheimer's residents seated in front of the Rolling Sea during meals stayed at the table longer, ate >20% more food, and gained weight. The aquariums captured the attention of residents who dozed off and calmed agitated residents. Each facility saw cost savings of $400 per month since use of nutritional supplements decreased 25% (published in the Western Journal of Nursing Research, June 2002).

Further benefits include less skin breakdown leading to fewer acquired in-house pressure sores, decreased anxiety, less wandering, pacing, and yelling. The aquariums entertained and calmed bored and anxious residents, helped them fall asleep at night, and decreased the use of sedative medications. Staff morale increased.

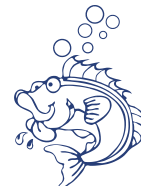

Mariner Healthcare recently replicated these results in their own facilities. This research has been featured in numerous news articles, including Contemporary Long Term Care, Provider, Assisted Living Success, Los Angeles Times, and American Family Physician.

Enhance resident activities programs

Activities Directors use the Rolling Sea for in-room visits and group activity programs. The aquarium encourages resident conversation and socialization. Residents can enjoy the fish without the need for supervision. For the first time, your facility can enjoy the benefits of pet therapy without the risk or hassle of dealing with animals.

The Rolling Sea is currently enjoyed in skilled nursing facilities, assisted living facilities, medical clinic waiting areas, and hospitals - in emergency departments, pediatrics, labor and delivery, oncology, ICU, medicine, geriatrics, and psychiatric wards. The Rolling Sea is even approved for use in respiratory isolation rooms. Nurses have told us that they've received doctors' orders of "Place fish tank at bedside for agitation."
